2011 Flood fight lingers on for Fiscal Court

Charlotte Smith
Editor

The 2011 Flood might be over but repercussions from measures taken by the Army Corps of Engineers to fight the affects of flooding as it pertained to the Fulton County Levee linger on. While tons of rock was being transported to the levee area to form a temporary levee while seep water made its way into the lower bottom, damaged Sutton Road. At the time, the Corps of Engineers informed county officials that they would return everything back to its original state once the flood fight was over.

Now, over two years later, the Fulton County Fiscal Court is still looking to the Corps to make needed repairs to Sutton Road. On Monday, Sept. 16 County Attorney Rick Major discussed pending legal action to ensure the future repairs of Sutton Road. "The Corps of Engineers has not provided the County with any written response indicating that the claim for damage to Sutton Road during the 2011 Flood fight filed by Fiscal Court has been either approved or denied," stated Major. Before proceeding with legal action County Attorney

"A DARLING CELEBRATION"

The 20th Annual Hickman Pecan Festival had "A Darling Celebration" when they invited Rodney Dillard and The Dillards, along with Maggie Peterson as Charlene Darling to Hickman as the main attractions. Rodney Dillard (above) strums on the guitar as he performs songs from The Andy Griffith Show. Maggie Peterson (at right) joined The Dillards, singing and reminiscing about their time on The Andy Griffith Show. The Pecan Festival was held Saturday, Sept. 14, at Jeff Green Memorial Park. Local vendors, church groups, and civic organizations set up different booths for the day. (See additional photos on page 10.). (Photos by Barbara Atwill.)

Grand Jury indicts Dildine, Miles

Fulton resident Keith Edmund Dildine, involved in the July 7 shooting incident with law enforcement, was indicted by the Fulton Grand Jury on Thursday, Sept. 12. Members of the Fulton Police Department and South Fulton Police Department responded to a shots fired complaint at the Royal Ridge Apartments in Fulton.

When Dildine exited his apartment he fired at local law enforcement officers with a handgun before Kentucky State Trooper Mark Franklin returned fire, striking Dildine multiple times.

Dildine was indicted on two counts of Criminal Attempt to Murder.

Bryan Miles, arrested back on September 4 in Hickman, was also indicted on charges of Manufacturing Methamphetamine, 2nd offense; Possession of Drug Paraphernalia, 1st Offense; and Persistent Felony Offender, 1st Degree.

Ten others indicted last week included the following:

- Gary Eric Nations – Theft by Unlawful Taking, Shoplifting; Persistent Felony Offender, 1st Degree.

- Deandre Wright – Possession of a Controlled Substance, 2nd Degree; Criminal Mischief, 1st Degree; Fleeing or Evading Police, 2nd Degree (on foot); Theft of Controlled Substance; and Theft by Unlawful Taking, from auto.

- Vernon Kinney – Assault, 4th Degree, Domestic Violence; Burglary, 2nd Degree; Possession of a Handgun by a Convicted Felon; Possession of Marijuana; and Persistent Felony Offender, 2nd Degree.

- Thomas Brooks – Assault, 4th Degree, Domestic Violence (3rd offense within 5 years); Terroristic Threatening, 3rd De-

Vowell explains rate increase

Dale Vowell, manager of Hickman Electric stated, "TVA's 1.5% rate increase on Hickman Electric's wholesale will be passed through to our customers. The board and I feel that having small increases as time goes along is much better than waiting and having a large increase all at once. This increase is not as bad as it sounds. The rate structure we have with TVA is broken into three categories summer (June, July, August and September) winter (December, January, February, and March) and transition (October, November, and April and May). On the summer rate the 1.5% increase would equal $1.20 more per 1000 kwh usage but October is the beginning of the transition rate period so rates will actually decrease $3.67 per 1000 kwh usage and the winter rate will also have a decrease of $1.74 per 1000 kwh usage. Hickman Electric is a not for profit municipal electric system that strives to provide reliable service at the lowest possible cost along with excellent customer service. For any questions customers may come by the office or call 270-236-3951."

Editor's Note: In last week's Courier it stated $1.5 was what the increase equaled and it should have stated $1.5 was the average. We regret this error and apologize.

Community remembrances on 9/11....Patriot Day

HONOR AND REMEMBRANCE - Woodmen of the World Lodge 3 held a flag ceremony on Wednesday, Sept. 11 at Fulton County Elementary/Middle School with fifth grade students. Woodmen of the World Lodge 3 President Betty Abernathy, Julia Davis, and Linda Rice, were all in attendance for the ceremony with Hickman Mayor David Lattus assisting with the raising of the flag. Callie Coulson and Craig Turner both said prayers before the flag raising. "This ceremony honors the heroes and victims of September 11, 2011, and fulfills our promise to never forget that tragic day. We also pay tribute to members of the military, both current and past, who selflessly protect America's freedom and liberty," stated Abernathy. "And on a local level, this ceremony also extends our unending gratitude to those who safeguard our community - the firefighters, police officers, emergency medical technicians, and other first responders - who put their lives on the line for our safety. (Photo by Charlotte Smith.)

COMMUNITY PRAYER SERVICE - Several area churches gathered together on Wednesday, Sept. 11 at the bluff to pray for the community and to worship God. Bro. Henry Callison brought the message to the group. Bro. Callison spoke of God's Love during his message. Songs sung included America, the Beautiful, God Bless America, Great is Thy Faithfulness, and Daisy of Elijah. A moment of Silence to Remember September 11, 2011 was also included in the Wednesday evening gathering. The event was organized by Bro. Jason and Kelly Sipes of West Hickman Baptist Church and was part of the Pecan Festival week activities. (See additional photos on page 6, our church page.) (Photo by Charlotte Smith.)

ASWEET THANK YOU - Cash Express in South Fulton, Tenn., delivered a cake to the Hickman Police Department on Wednesday, Sept. 11, Patriot Day, to say thank you. Those on hand for the sweet treat include (l to r) Police Chief Tony Grogan, Paramedic Kelly Stubblefield, Cash Express employee Jennifer Haynes, EMT Penny Johansen, and part-time Hickman Police Department Secretary Heather Infinger. ## Mega Class Reunion solves 45 year old mystery

Editor

Two members of the Class of 1971 ended a 45-year-old mystery on Friday night during the Fulton County Mega Class Reunion held at the Hickman Country Club. Missing, for almost five decades, was the item feared by most school age children when they were misbehaving, the wooden paddle.

David King and Dan Rice, Hickman Middle School seventh graders at the time, cooked up a plan to "steal" the paddle, "so they could save their own butts," said King. The paddle they wanted to make disappear belonged to teacher Flavous Statham. While King and Rice started to tell their story you could almost see them go back in time to about 1967.

"One day we just decided to steal his paddle," said King with a twinkle in his eye. "We put it in a spot where Mr. Statham couldn't find it. We hid it on the window sill of his classroom."

"I looked all over for it," stated Statham, as he was holding the returned paddle in his hands. "I questioned each student and never found it."

King and Rice left school that day without it. "I went back after school and took it down from the window sill and brought it home."

King hid it in a safe place in his parents' home and as the years flew by, the paddle was forgotten about.

"Years later, after my mom passed, it came back to my mind," said King. "I searched the house and found it behind a chest of drawers." That was about 10 years ago.

Glosson recipient of Mr. MSU 2013 title

Murray State University (MSU) fraternity Alpha Gamma Rho sponsored Tyler Glosson in a fundraising event hosted by sorority Alpha Omicron Pi held on Friday, Sept. 13. Glosson was named Mr. MSU during the charity fundraiser.

Glosson, a 2010 graduate of Fulton County High School, was one of 15 contestants responsible for completing an essay and sitting down for an interview. Those two portions of the event make up the largest percentage points for the competition.

The smallest percentage is for talent and how they presented themselves on stage. Glosson wowed the audience and his family when he went out on stage and belted out the song “I’ll Be There For You” by Randy Rogers. “None of us knew he could sing,” stated his mom, Heather Elder. “He moved me to tears.” Glosson was accompanied by Alex Cunningham of Mayfield on the guitar.

With a Sports Illustrated them, the audience voted on their MVP and three judges were on hand for the event. Money was raised for juvenile arthritis research through ticket sales, as well as, collection buckets around campus for best legs.

As Mr. MSU, Senior Glosson’s duties now involve participating in events such as riding in the MSU Homecoming Parade in October.

The event, now in its 33rd year, raised over $10,000. The sisters of the Alpha Omicron Pi at MSU host Mr. MSU each fall and have collectively raised over one million dollars to support organizations like The Arthritis Foundation.

A PILE OF RUBBLE - The ‘Old Bank Building’ or Hubbard House is now but a pile of rubble. The building was completely torn down last week. It is located on Union Street in Hickman and was believed to be constructed in 1855. (Photo submitted.)

The Chapel is perfect wedding and special events venue

Pristine and almost regal looking is the New Chapel United Methodist Church located on the grounds of Discovery Park (DPA) of America. A white, circular fountain is perfectly situated in front of the chapel. Named ‘The Chapel’, it will be utilized as one of the exhibits at DPA, but also as a place for weddings and private services.

A covered bridge across the way lends a picturesque entrance to the chapel area, with an American garden wrapping around the walkway, setting a beautiful scene for quiet reflection or for any special event.

“Our vision was to restore this grand church back to its original 1890s look,” stated Rob Kingrey, Director of Facilities and Exhibits at DPA. “The Chapel now looks the same as the old pictures on the outside, but it is indescribably beautiful on the inside, it is a ‘see it to believe it’ kind of place.”

There was some vinyl siding and storm windows removed and not used in the renovation process. Items which were to be included with the Chapel including the furniture, pews, piano, etc. A crew then removed the stained glass windows and crated them up for storage.

Carlos Lewis of Indian Mound, Tenn., who have been involved in the relocation of many of the buildings at DPA, went to the site after the foundation was removed. “Carlos jacked up the building after the wall and steeple had been carefully dismantled and folded in and laid it on top of the floor deck,” explained Kingrey. “The Chapel, once it was disassembled was moved by Carlos and his crew.” Involved in the deconstruction of the Chapel was Allen Searcy Builder Contractor.

Once moved to its site at DPA, Searcy’s men started immediately resetting the bare wood walls. The foundation was bricked and the roof was set. “Over the one hundred year plus span of the church’s existence, some of the wood did not survive, or was covered up by dry wall in the 1950s,” stated Kingrey. “We replaced the siding with new poplar siding and the interior with new wood lath on the walls and ceiling while staining all the wood to match the original tone of wood.”

Keeping their vision in mind, DPA really wanted to save the wood flooring, so they repaired many of the soft spots with reclaimed wood and blended it all together. “The original floor was just one layer of wood and was weak in some parts,” Kingrey explained. “So we went underneath the floor and supported the flooring with plywood and bracing from underneath.”

Although not a part of the original church, stained glass, fans, and light features were included. “The glass is beautiful and the lights and fans were a necessity,” commented Kingrey. “We also added some giant front lights that match the time period of the 1890s.” Handicap accessibility items such as ramps and door pulls were also added.

“Even the old sign is there,” noted Kingrey. “It stands as a testament to the once thriving church in the community of Elbridge.

The history of New Chapel United Methodist Church 1852-2010

Many years ago the early settlers of this community felt the need of a desirable place where they could assemble for worship. They got together and constructed a building of logs. They used split logs for benches and the ground for the floor. This church was also used as a school. After many years of service it was consumed by a forest fire.

In the year of 1852, Dr. Meredith Carroll donated about ten acres to be used to construct a new church building and for a public cemetery. On this land a building of frame construction was in the process of being built when it was demolished by a storm.

But the courageous and faithful members again rebuilt and dedicated this house of worship as New Chapel. The building withstood the storms and elements for a period of 45 years and then was torn down and replaced by this building in the year 1897.

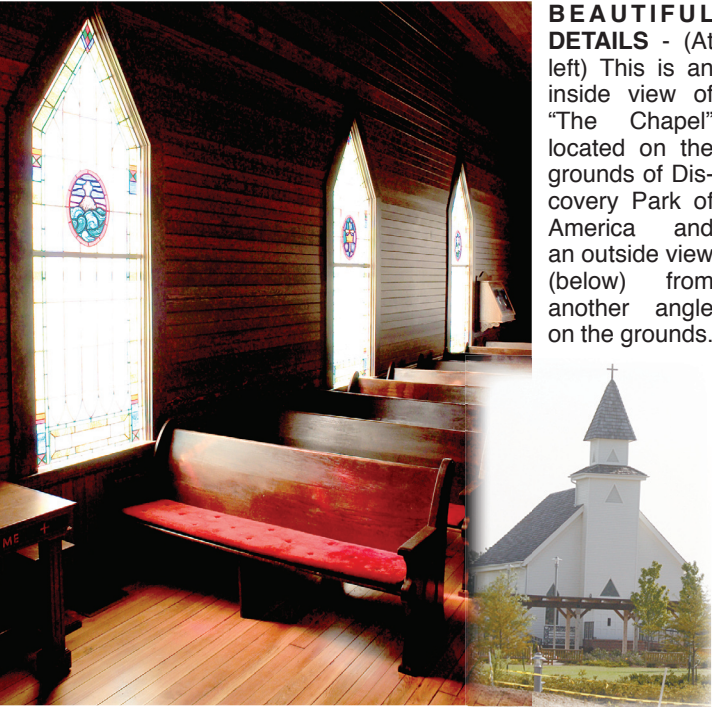

Over the years some changes have been made to the inside of the church. In 1950 the inside was remodeled by portioning off two areas for classrooms. Vinyl siding was added later. Two new restrooms were built. Beautiful stained glass windows were dedicated and installed. A few years ago a new metal roof was installed. Recently the inside was painted, the ceiling was lowered and fans installed.

At the 100th anniversary membership stood at 185. In 2010 the membership was 16 with an average attendance of five. The time had come to close the doors of New Chapel United Methodist Church. It was with sadness that we made this decision. The Methodist Conference has deeded the building to the Elbridge Cemetery Association.

The congregation of New Chapel United Methodist Church will continue to have their homecoming services at The Chapel as well.

PERFECT WEDDING SETTING - Discovery Park of America visitors will have the opportunity to view this beautiful church once located in Elbridge, Tenn. It will be available for weddings and special events once the park opens in November. (Photo submitted.)

Senior Spirit

By Glenda Cochrum

Someone once said that, "The only way that we can live, is if we grow. The only way that we can grow is if we change. The only way that we can change is if we learn. The only way we can learn is if we are exposed to life. And the only way that we can become exposed is if we throw ourselves out into the open. So do it. Throw yourself."

Life teaches us many lessons and Regina Brett, 90 years old, of the Plain Dealer, Cleveland, Ohio, once wrote the following about what life had taught her. I think we have all learned, or will learn, the following lessons:

- Life isn't fair, but it's still good.
- When in doubt, just take the next small step.
- Life is too short – enjoy it.
- Your job won't take care of you when you are sick. Your friends and family will.
- Pay off your credit cards every month.
- You don't have to win every argument. Stay true to yourself.
- Cry with someone. It's more healing than crying alone.

- It's OK to get angry with God. He can take it.
- Save for retirement starting with your first paycheck.
- Make peace with your past so it won't screw up the present.
- It's OK to let your children see you cry.
- Don't compare your life to others. You have no idea what their journey is all about.
- If a relationship has to be a secret, you shouldn't be in it.
- Everything can change in the blink of an eye, but don't worry, God never blinks.
- Burn the candles, use the nice sheets, wear the fancy nightgowns. Don't save it for a special occasion. Today is special.

Found any of these "lessons" in your own life? Next week I'll add a few more of "life's lessons!"

The Fulton County golf team played very well this week in matches at the Hickman Country Club and at Oak Hill Country Club in Clinton. Pilot Junior Ryne Choate tied for top individual honors at home against Ballard Memorial and Hickman County, while teammate Madison Uzzle posted his best round of the season for a 2nd place finish. The Pilot duo then claimed 2nd and 3rd place respectively in match play in Clinton against district opponent Hickman County. Ballard Memorial and Hickman County at Fulton County: (Hickman Country Club) Pilots golfer Ryne Choate, along with Ballard Memorial's Steven McGowan, each shot an even-par 36 to claim top individual play in the nine-hole match. Fulton County's Madison Uzzle turned in his scorecard after posting a 2-over-par 38, to finish 2nd in the match of 12 golfers. Jarett West, who is still nursing a back injury, finished with a 12-over-par 48 on the day. Following McGowan for Ballard Memorial, T.J. Wray shot a 3-over-par 39, with Matt Miller recording a 45, Mason Allen 47 and Austin Dowdy with 48. Hickman County was led in the match by Ben Wilson, who finished with a 6-over-par 42. The Falcon's Dylan Jewell shot 49, followed by Jacob Stahr 54 and Noah Cunningham 55. On the girl's side of play, Hickman County's Darla Keene led all scorers with a 6-over-par 42. Fulton County at Hickman County: (Oak Hill Country Club)

First District play rough on Lady Pilots

Charlotte Smith
Editor
 The six starters, Carlee Stafford, Jessica Mathews, Leah Rash, Amy Langford, Julia Cox, and Carly McNeill, for the Fulton County Lady Pilots made things interesting in the first set of their match against the Lady Bulldogs. The Lady Pilots traveled to Fulton City on Tuesday, Sept. 10, taking on the team, which is tough when Mary Kathryn Miller is at the net. In the first set with strong serves by Mathews and good team communication, the Lady Pilots took the early lead up 5-3. A hit by Cox brought the game to six all. Later Cox would serve well and the Lady Pilots stayed within one, 8-9. A dig by AnnaGregory Grissom, who came in to serve for Langford, had a nice dig during a long volley between the two teams. Miller started to come to the net more in her team's defense, putting them up by four, 9-13. Quickly the Lady Bulldogs added to that lead, putting them up by eight. A spike out of bounds by Miller gave the serve back to the Lady Pilots. With Stafford serving, Cox came up with the dig, but Miller bounced it right back, earning the point. Later in the match Mathews served well and Langford had a good hit, but the Lady Bulldogs took the set by 10, 15-25. In the second set, the Lady Pilots continued to work hard but couldn't get anything going and the Lady Bulldogs took the set 3-25. In the third set, it looked like the Lady Bulldogs were going to make it a quick night of it, but the Lady Pilots played tough with McNeill hitting well. Combined with strong serves by Mathews, the Lady Pilots scored nine points in the final set before falling 9-25. "We have got to continue to play well for an entire set," said Coach Mat Dillon after the game on Tuesday. "We do well in spurts, but we need to be able to play that way all the time." On Thursday, Sept. 12 the Lady Pilots traveled to Carlisle County to take on another district opponent, the Lady Comets with both the junior varsity and varsity teams playing. Alexis Tacker, Samantha Ward, AnnaGregory Grissom, Carly McNeill, Darcy Patrick and Allyson Dick started out on the court for the Lady Pilots junior varsity team. With the Lady Comets serving, they took an early commanding lead up 0-13. The Lady Pilots' first point was won on a hit by Tacker. Two more points were added to the score for the ladies in blue on serves by Grissom.

McNeill added another point with a strong hit, but the Lady Pilots found themselves in a deep whole down by 13, 4-17. The Lady Pilots would add two more points before falling, 6-21 in the first set. In the second set the Lady Pilots would need to be more aggressive to send the match to a final deciding third set. With Grissom serving a hit in by Tacker the ladies were off to a good start. Unfortunately the Lady Comets answered with four points of their own. The ladies struggled at the service linen the second set, but successfully earned more points in the second set than in the first set. The Lady Points went down in the second set 11-21. In the Varsity match up, Courtney Parris joined Carlee Stafford, Jessica Mathews, Leah Rash, Amy Langford, and Julia Cox out on the floor. The Lady Pilots struggled early in the first set, falling behind 0-8. Their first point was earned on a hit by Mathews. Strong serves by Stafford, Mathews, Rash, Grissom and Cox earned a few more points for the Lady Pilots, but they still couldn't find the holes in the Lady Comets' defense, falling 7-25. In the second set, the Lady Pilots stayed close early, only down by one, 4-5 on hits by Langford and Rash and strong serves by Mathews. The Lady Comets remained tough even as the Lady Pilots became a little more aggressive, coming to the net with Langford and Rash and good digs by Cox. A timeout was taken by Coach Dillon after the Lady Comets went up by nine, 5-16. Mathews' hit in earned them another point and then strong serves by McNeill and Stafford netted two more before the Lady Pilots' succumbed to the Lady Comets 8-25. In the third and final set, play at the net earned Langford and Rash the Lady Pilots their first block point of the match, pulling the Lady Pilots within two. Strong serving continued by Rash, Grissom and Cox, but the Lady Pilots couldn't keep the Lady Comets from increasing their lead and taking the set and match, 14-25. The Lady Pilots were back in action on Tuesday, Sept. 17 at home, hosting the Lady Bulldogs of Fulton City.

Sports In Kentucky
For the Hickman Courier
By Bob Watkins

With people at the cash register of American sports today decisions are more often about "pay-for-play" today, now!?" than any consideration being given to educate the next generation. Never mind the next seven. (See Worth Repeating) Scenario. Tom Jurich takes out his checkbook. The one with University of Louisville printed across the top, and fills in the Pay-To-The-Order Of: Russell Smith. Amount: $1,614,733. For: Services rendered. According to a Time Magazine cover story September 16, before Smith's next stop-and-pop at Yum Center against Kentucky Wesleyan, November 29, $1.67 million is the cut he's entitled to as an employee of the top sports revenue producer last academic year. For 2011-12 University of Louisville Cardinal athletics generated 42 million, 434 thousand, 684 dollars. This, according to a study by Drexel University's sports management department and something called National College Players Association. The drums beat louder and longer among sports media elite to "pay college athletes." If, like me, college sports is still worth your time, the prospect of openly paying athletics is horrible. While Jurich is handing Russ Smith a check for a million-six, down 1-64, according to the Drexel study, Mitch Barnhart ought be writing one to Julius Randle for $810,790. A projected one-and-doner who's only recently been issued a jersey number for his seven month stay at Kentucky. Consider this a warning, the NCAA is about to become obsolete and bidding wars for athletes will become like autumn stud sales at Keeneland. If we let it happen. The Drexel study in Time Magazine calculates UK athletics was fifth in the pantheon of revenue production for 2011-12. Barnhart put 21 million, 598 thousand and 680 dollars into the bank, according to Time. Why is Randle due anything? Because he signed with elite Kentucky. Calculation: His college choice was enough to fire up tee-shirt sales, jerseys (No. 30) and placards with his photo and whatever else UK fans will pay for. Money-maker items for all for everybody not named Julius Randle. And this postscript: Quarterback Johnny Manziel's value to Texas A&M University for media exposure and winning the Heisman Trophy last year - $37 million, Time Magazine writer Sean Gregory said. Count me among those who care less than nothing about NBA and NFL sports. The former has evolved into a collection of me-first prima donnas skilled enough to show off in shorts into their late 20s enough for NBC-TV ratings. The NFL is steroid souped-up savagery that is bringing more 'fines' with every Sunday and leaves cripples for taxpayers to care for after their careers. How and why did pay-college-athletes issue become so noisy, a story with legs and momentum in recent years? Big money of course and media attention. Greed, control and influence have gotten more sophisticated. Blatant example: A fee levied on fans for the privilege to buy the right to pay for seats at the game, quickly covered up with "our prices are consistent with those at other league schools." In UK's case, never mind quality of play on the field has not been SEC competitive for decades. For me, the worst calamity come to college sports is anything that involves squeezing fans. And directors of athletics are getting away with it. Dave Zirin writes about politics in sports for The Nation magazine. His latest book, Game Over: How Politics Has Turned the Sports World Upside Down, ought be a must read for sports fans. Zirin's work exposes how professional franchise owners and college administrators are raking in such huge profits. NFL owners quietly devalue professionals as bottom-of-food-chain gladiators all the way to a shamefully cheap chump-change settlement to compensate retired NFL players on disability for services rendered after their careers have left them disabled. For college fans, the media drums grows ever louder to re-define a college scholarship as less than worthless, more an insult to those who earn millions for those in control. Solutions? A few ideas. ✓ Fans prevail on national media to concentrate and expose NBA player association's hidden its-a-plantation mentality. One they hide behind with owners passive support while holding university basketball programs hostage as farm teams. ✓ Salary cap for college coaches. A million a year for likes of John Calipari, Nick Saban, Rick Pitino and others, is more than reasonable. If coach doesn't like it, in a land of opportunity, he's free to go elsewhere. ✓ At taxpayer behest, maybe politicians can agree on something. Legislate to allow high school graduates to pursue a career when, where and however they choose. ✓ Create a sane and level playground for high school-to-college athletes. Predicated on - "kids who commit to play college sports, be offered athletic scholarships that include a set stipend, same for all amount. Reduce the politics would reduce the influence of greed. These steps would be a far better direction for solutions than Tom Jurich writing a check to Russ Smith.

Court

Major has drafted another request for an update on this matter.

This concern is heightened by the potential additional road damage that may be caused by new Corps levee repair projects including Sycamore Road. Photographs and documentation have been taken of the current condition of Sycamore Road to show proof if the road were to be damaged to future projects.

Another concern of the Court is a proposed new 1500' levee at the southern end of the New Madrid Floodway in Missouri. The Court has requested that the Attorney General intervene in the matter of the proposed new 1500' levee that would close off the southern end of the New Madrid Floodway. "The Court is gravely concerned with the negative impact that the project would cause on both the Levee and Fulton County property," added County Attorney Major.

Fulton County department heads and the Fiscal Court will be meeting with health insurance representatives on Thursday, Sept. 19 to discuss coverage options. Currently employee health insurance benefits are taken care of through a state administered plan. A proposal received through KaCo looks promising to Fulton County Judge/Executive David Gallagher and Treasurer Fonda Swain. "I think we are going to be really pleased if we switch to KaCo," stated Judge Gallagher.

"It is better than what we expected, but that doesn't make it good."

KaCo's plan will be through Anthem. "There will be significant savings for the County," added Swain. "This is based on the state's proposal for next year."

Last week the Fulton County Sheriff's Office introduced Kwinta, the new K-9 to everyone. On Monday morning, Fulton County Sheriff Bobby Hopper and K-9 Officer J.L. Atwill recently obtained a new utility vehicle to utilize during search and rescue events, missing person investigations, and drug searches. "The Polaris Razer came to us from Fort Bragg, North Carolina," stated Sheriff Hopper. "It was one of two that were dispersed in the state of Kentucky out of 22 total. It came to us in 'A condition.'"

At approximately 10:22 a.m. members of the Fiscal Court entered closed session to discuss personnel.

After reconvening in open session the Court discussed the following business items:

- Authorize Printing of 2013 Fulton County Tax Bills
- Memorandum of Agreement between Kentucky Transportation Cabinet and Fulton County Fiscal Court for culvert on Mangold Road
- Authorize advertising for bids for Fulton County EOC Generator Project
- Proclamation for

Constitution Week 2013

- Administrative transfers
- Authorize Treasurer and Finance Officer to make necessary end of quarter transfers

• Approve new Fulton County Detention Center and Fulton County Dispatch Center employees

Mangold Road was closed on Monday morning, Sept. 16 to make repairs to a culvert. The road is expected to remain closed for approximately 10 days.

The Fiscal Court will meet again in regular session on Monday, Oct. 14 and have plans to meet in special session on Thursday, Sept. 19 at 12:30 p.m. to discuss employee policies.

Fulton City Bulldogs best Jr. Pilots 30-12

Charles Choate
Courier Correspondent

Only one season after their school was unable to field a football team, the Fulton City Jr. Bulldogs have rebounded in a big way.

The team showed their strength last week at Sanger Field, as 8th graders Tyler Bishop and Tyris Fountain rushed for four touchdowns in the cross-county win over the Pilots.

Bishop scored on plays of 6, 42 and 56 yards, while Fountain scored from 14 yards out to lead the Jr. Bulldogs to a 30-0 lead before Fulton County could get on the scoreboard.

"I thought we were going to be able to throw the football on them, but we didn't", said Fulton County coach James Bridges. "We were still able to get within the 10-yard line three times and were not able to put any points on the board. It just seemed like most of the game we were backed up so deep and their line was just so big that they did not allow us to do anything."

Bridges said the size of the Fulton City line just made a big impact on the game.

"Did you see those guys, they were bigger than me," said the coach. "That's something I have not seen from Fulton City and they are all 6th graders. I think their play just really threw us off of our game. We missed plays, missed holes and just didn't execute at times. I still think we have kids that are giving 110-percent and that is all we can ask now."

The Jr. Pilots scored their first points of the night with 1:09 left in the 3rd quarter, when Dre Smith ran a kickoff back 52 yards.

Fulton County Pilots fall to Red Devils

David Whitesell
Fulton Leader Sports

The Fulton County High School football team traveled to South Fulton, Tenn. this past week to square off against the Red Devils in their third regular season game. September 13th's game followed two previous Pilot losses, the first to the Bulldogs of Gleason, Tenn., and the second to Lake County. The Pilots sunk in to a similar funk in their most recent game, falling 0-49 to the Red Devils of South Fulton.

The Pilots began the game by electing to receive the kickoff, but were quickly forced to turnover the ball. The Pilots defense then stood its ground against a crushing Red Devil offense and managed to force a South Fulton turnover.

However, the vigor found in the Pilots' first defensive drive would not be seen again until midway through the second quarter, by which point South Fulton had already posted a slew of touchdowns.

Midway through the second quarter, the Pilots, on the back of junior quarterback Damien Roach (#10), seemed poised for a comeback as they marched the ball down the field, due in part to some successful rushes from Austin Matheny (#22) and some holes in the Devil backfield that Roach managed to exploit for some big passing yards.

Unfortunately, as the Pilots' offense seemed ready to post their first touchdown, the Devils defense caught on to the passing game and intercepted a pass near the goal line that would have been returned for a touchdown were it not for a block-in-the-back penalty against South Fulton.

The Pilots walked away at half time down 0-28.

The second half played out similarly to the first, with South Fulton scoring three more touchdowns, and the Pilots unable to put up one of their own.

Luckily, the Pilots will have an open week before their next game, and can take advantage of that time to secure some weaknesses in both their offense

The final points of the night came for Fulton County in the 4th period when Kahari Miller scored on a 46 yard pass play. The loss left Fulton County at (0-4) on the year.

and defense, and hopefully turn around their season.

The Fulton County High School Pilots will travel to Gibson County High School—located in Dyer, Tenn—for their fourth regular season game on September 27. Three regional games will follow the team's contest with Gibson, and as of right now they have yet to compete in a regional match, so the future is undecided as to their playoff standing.

Positive thinking and plenty of rest help with moving to a healthier you

The power of positive thinking. It works in many avenues of life, including becoming healthier.

Confidence also plays a part in making positive changes. "The more confidence you have to make a change, the more successful you will be," states the Live Well handout booklet provided to those taking part in the Move toward a Healthier You program.

Now, after more than a month, you should be able to recall things that you have done successfully. Bringing back those good feelings will help you stay on the path of achieving your goal and becoming more confident.

Turn to family and friends when you need help, while you make a plan to accomplish your healthier lifestyle goals.

One or two specific positive thoughts or mental images can help guide you to create behavior changes. Such as, adding new, healthier recipes and incorporating physical activity in your daily routine.

"Instead of turning to food for life's little pleasures," stated Julie Muscarella, Registered Dietitian with the Purchase District Health Department, "consider making a plan for pleasure."

Some suggestions of activities include: dancing, bowling, walking with friends or taking a vacation.

"Remember to stop and smell the roses," reminded Muscarella. "Take a deep breath and slow down while eating."

She asked if everyone was slowing down enough to actually let yourself feel the pleasure in everyday things like eating.

Other things to let yourself feel to add to your small everyday experiences include:

- Sleeping
- Laughing
- Taking a shower or bath
- Just relaxing
- Smelling certain fragrances
- Driving
- Having a pleasant conversation

"... This isn't about paying every kid who's playing ball in your neighborhood, just the ones who reach the big stage and are put on television. This isn't going to cause the formation of a union with an inevitable strike or contract holdout.

And no one is really getting paid. Call it prize money or a scholarship or something if it makes you feel better.

The players deserve something from this booming, expansive event, even if it is just a few grand that go(es) directly into a college scholarship fund or some kind of trust (if they don't go to college) that can't be accessed until age 18 or 21. A similar system could be worked out for international players based on their own cultural norms."

Golf

The Falcons Ben Wilson became the first golfer this season to shoot the lowest individual score against the Pilots golf team in match play. Wilson's 4-over-par 40 was two shots better than Fulton County's Ryne Choate, who finished the day with a 6-over-par 42. Choate's teammate Madison Uzzle took 3rd place with an 8-over-par 44. The Pilots will face Carlisle County this Monday at home, and will then compete in the First Region Golf Tournament on October 1st at the Mayfield Country Club.

Healthier

pression influence your eating and physical activity habits and your weight. "You are swallowing your emotions when you eat when you are stressed," one participant said.

First recognize that you are stressed and then turn to physical activities to help your body handle stress. Simply adding physical activity to your day or adding one of the following can help:

- Eat a healthy diet high in fruit and vegetables. Drink plenty of water.
- Get enough rest.
- Try a massage.
- Take a long shower or bath.
- Take a break from stressful situations: count to 10, take a deep breath or daydream.
- Divide big tasks into little ones, and tackle one at a time.
- Learn how to relax and practice this regularly.
- Arrange to have some quiet time for yourself each day.
- "Things like taking a shower, feeling the water physically going over your head can help stress and help you to think clearer. It can help you piece through things and how to deal with something. Stress that lasts too long becomes distress. If stress is leading to distress in your life, be sure to talk to your health care provider."

Albert Dinwiddie has been relaxing, listening to music to help him release stress as he continues to move to a healthier lifestyle. Some others have been praying.

"Remove temptation," added Muscarella. "If you have food left over from an event and you don't need it, give it to a neighbor."

Another suggestion is to get eight to nine hours of sleep a night. "Improved sleep habits can reduce stress and help with weight loss efforts," noted Muscarella.

Not getting enough sleep does have an affect on your blood sugar levels. "If you don't get enough sleep your blood sugar does rise," said Muscarella. "Lack of sleep also causes lack of concentration. You are more apt to be vulnerable to more stress."

Headaches, feeling of depression, especially related with a stress hormone of cortisol, are all associated with the sleep deprivation. "It can also lead to careless activities," added Muscarella when talking about the importance of getting enough shut eye.

Next week will be the conclusion of the six-week course, which has taken place at the Fulton County Extension Office in Hickman on Wednesdays from 2:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Paddle

King's next mission was to return the paddle to his teacher who left Hickman in 1968. "I was drafted into the Army to do research," Statham explained. "After leaving the Army I went back to teaching." He taught in Dover, Delaware.

About a year ago King reconnected with Statham. The class reunion was the perfect time to hand deliver the paddle to Statham.

"I am tickled to death to have it back," said Statham. "I really never knew what happened to it."

Statham reconnected with many students from long ago on Friday night, not just King and Rice.

"I taught Glynn Mangold math in the ninth grade," he said. "I found out that he became a top researcher for Murray State University." Statham also learned that he sparked Mangold into a career involving math.

"This has been a great experience," said Statham about the reunion. "This has provided me the chance to see what has happened to my former students. It has been a pleasure to see what they have become and what kind of influence I was on their lives."

Teachers influence the lives of students in so many ways and it is evident that Mr. Statham touched many of the youth from Fulton County.

King now resides in Ocean Springs, Mississippi, in the Biloxi area and returns to Fulton County a couple of times a year to visit his father, Charles D. King, family and friends. His mother was the late Mildred King, former Fulton County Circuit Clerk. Rice, a farmer, still lives in Fulton County with his wife, Beth. He is the son of Swannee Rice and the late Harold Rice.

A ‘Mayberry Good Time’ during the 20th Hickman Pecan Festival

ENJOYING A HAYRIDE - This group of youngsters took time out from the activities at Jeff Green Memorial Park on Friday, Sept. 13 to take a hayride. Mike Hartigan had a tractor and wagon, filled with hay, and circled the park for everyone. Those attending Friday night’s event were able to listen to Nothin’ Fancy, buy food from vendors and enjoy the cooler weather. (Photo by Barbara Atwill.)
